Volunteer Mileage Bill

CONGRESSWOMAN BARBARA A. MIKULSKI TODAY INTRODUCED A LEGISLATIVE PACKAGE OF THREE BILLS GRANTING TAX BREAKS TO VOLUNTEERS.

"THE ESTIMATED VALUE OF VOLUNTEER HOURS DONATED IN 1982 WAS $64 BILLION," MIKULSKI SAID. "AND YET THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT DOES NOT REWARD THIS CONTRIBUTION."

THE MIKULSKI VOLUNTEER PACKAGE CONTAINS THREE BILLS:

THE VOLUNTEER MILEAGE BILL RAISES THE AMOUNT OF DEDUCTIBLE EXPENSES FOR THE USE OF AUTOMOBILES FOR THE PURPOSE OF VOLUNTEER WORK (PRESENTLY 9¢ PER MILE) TO EQUAL THE AMOUNT ALLOWED FOR BUSINESS PURPOSES (20¢ PER MILE).

THE VOLUNTEER DEPENDENT CARE TAX CREDIT ALLOWS VOLUNTEERS TO CLAIM THE CREDIT FOR VOLUNTEER-RELATED CHILD CARE EXPENSES. PRESENT LAW ALLOWS THE CREDIT ONLY FOR EMPLOYMENT-RELATED CHILD CARE EXPENSES.

-MORE-

THE VOLUNTEER TAX CREDIT GRANTS AN INCOME TAX CREDIT TO AMERICANS WHO DONATE A MINIMUM OF 50 HOURS PER YEAR FOR VOLUNTEER SERVICE.

"THE WORK OF VOLUNTEERS IS AN ESSENTIAL, POSITIVE COMPONENT OF OUR SOCIETY," SAID MIKULSKI AS SHE INTRODUCED THE PACKAGE. "VOLUNTEERS STAFF HELP-LINES IN BATTERED WOMEN'S SHELTERS. VOLUNTEERS SAVE LIVES FIGHTING FIRES IN RURAL COMMUNITIES. VOLUNTEERS DELIVER MEALS ON WHEELS TO ELDERLY PEOPLE WHO CAN REMAIN AT HOME BECAUSE VOLUNTEERS LOOK AFTER THEIR NUTRITIONAL NEEDS."

MIKULSKI NOTED THAT THIS IS NATIONAL VOLUNTEERS WEEK. "I THINK IT'S HIGH TIME THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT DID MORE THAN JUST RECOGNIZE THE PRICELESS CONTRIBUTION VOLUNTEERS MAKE TO OUR LIVES AND TO OUR ECONOMY. IT'S TIME TO REWARD THAT CONTRIBUTION."

THE MIKULSKI VOLUNTEER PACKAGE WAS REFERRED TO THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON WAYS AND MEANS.

THE MAHATMA HOAX
(By Patrick J. Buchanan)

To those who stayed up past midnight, Academy Awards Night became Gandhi Night. Eight Oscars. Best Actor for Ben Kingsley, Best Director for Sir Richard ("Call me Dickie") Attenborough. Best film of 1982.

If, however, a fraction of what I have finished reading for the third time in the March Commentary—"The Gandhi Nobody Knows" by critic and novelist Richard Grenier—is true, Hollywood was had. A "pious fraud," Grenier says of the film, pacifist propaganda, a rank distortion of the record of a man and his movement, hoked up for reasons of Indian pride and prejudice.

Purporting to be an independent and honest account, the film was heavily financed by the government of Indira Gandhi, with the screenplay "checked and rechecked by Indian officials at every stage, often by the Prime Minister herself, with close consultations on plot and even casting." (Can anyone imagine Hollywood sitting still for eight Oscars for a USIA-subsidized patriotic and pro-American film checked and rechecked for plot and character by Ronald Reagan?)

Far from being the loving and caring father and husband of Attenborough's portrayal, Gandhi was "monstrous" toward wife and children, writes Grenier. After kicking wife "Ba" out of his bedroom for the last 40 years of their life, Gandhi took to bedding down in the buff with teenage girls who gave him a daily mandatory body massage "testing" his vow of chastity. Refusing his wife the penicillin that could have saved her life, "considering it alien medicine," he watch her die on a noble principle that did not prevent his own taking of quinine to cure malaria. The Mahatma's morbid preoccupation with enemas and excreta—the Indian "edification of filth" in V.A. Naipul's phrase—is better related elsewhere.

While the hero of the film is a saintly man, a martyr for whom non-violence is constant theme and crowning virtue, Grenier's Gandhi is an opportunist, a late-blooming pacifist for whom non-violence is a selective tactic.

Nowhere in the film are we introduced to Gandhi's other record in South Africa. During the "Kaffir Wars" he was a regular Gunga Din, who "volunteered to organize a brigade of Indians to put down a Zulu uprising, and was decorated himself for valor under fire." In 1918, approaching fifty, he remained a zealot of the empire, writing the British Viceroy: "I have an idea that if I become your recruiting agent-in-chief, I might rain men upon you . . . I would make India offer all her able-bodied sons a sacrifice to the empire at this critical moment."

Pacifism was not infrequently discarded. As the British Raj was winding down, "suddenly Gandhi began endorsing violence, left, right and center . . . He blessed the Nawab of Maier Kotla when he gave order to shoot ten Muslims for every Hindu killed in his state. He sang the praises of Subhas Chandra Bose, who . . . organized in Singapore an Indian National Army with which he hoped to conquer India with Japanese support, establishing a totalitarian dictatorship."

During the independence era rioting, Gandhi proclaimed, "If the whole of Calcutta swims in blood it will not dismay me. For it will be a willing sacrifice of the innocent."

For other peoples, other advice. To the Jews facing Hitler's holocaust, he recommended collective suicide, a moral example that would leave a "rich heritage to mankind." The Czechs should march out unarmed, he said, and face the Wermacht. His advice to embattled Britain after Dunkirk:

"Let them (the Nazis) take possession of your beautiful island with your many beautiful buildings. You will give all these, but neither your souls nor minds."

No record has been found of the response of The Fuhrer, then bestriding the Continent from the Atlantic wall to the Russian steppes, on receiving his "Dear Friend" letter from Gandhi, urging an embrace of all races and peoples.

In a film subsidized and overseen by the Indian Government, one might expect that Indira's father, Pandit Nehru, would emerge saintly while Mohammed All Jinnah, the Father of Pakistan, would be painted sinister; but the trashing of the British Raj and romanticizing of Indian Rule approaches the preposterous.

The Amritsar massacre of 1919, in which British troops cut down hundreds of Indian demonstrators, is recounted in loving detail. Yet not one scene from the year-long orgy of rape and atrocity that attended Indian independence in which an estimated four million Hindu and Moslem men, women and children were stabbed, hacked, butchered and bludgeoned to death.

When Sir Dickie captured the Best Picture award, he pronounced it a tribute to Gandhi and Gandhi's message for us all, a message repeated through the film: "Tyrants and murderers can seem invincible at the time, but in the end they always fall. Think of it. Always."

The tyrants of Gandhi's time were Stalin and Hitler. The first died in his bed; his tyranny endures and encompasses a third of the globe. The second, Hitler, died in his bunker, his Third Reich demolished, his death camps dismantled, because millions of Americans and British and Russians refused to live by the pacifist nonsense preached—but not always practiced—by Mahatma Gandhi. ●

VOLUNTEERS

HON. BARBARA A. MIKULSKI

OF MARYLAND

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 21, 1983

● Ms. MIKULSKI. Mr. Speaker, on the occasion of National Volunteers Week, I am today introducing my volunteer legislative package.

The work of volunteers is an essential, positive component of our society. Volunteers staff help-lines in battered women's shelters, giving comfort and information to victims of domestic violence. Volunteers save lives fighting fires in rural communities. Volunteers deliver Meals on Wheels to elderly people who can remain at home because volunteers look after their nutritional needs. The estimated value of hours donated in 1982 was $64 billion.

The three bills in the volunteer package adjust the Tax Code to reflect the vital contributions volunteers make to our lives everyday.

The volunteer mileage bill raises the amount of deductible expenses for the use of automobiles for the purpose of volunteer work to equal the amount of the deduction allowed for business purposes. In Baltimore, the Meals on Wheels program delivers more than 2,000 meals everyday by driving more than 150,000 miles per week. Drivers who use their cars to volunteer deserve the same tax break as drivers who use their cars for business—20 cents, not 9 cents per mile.

The volunteer dependent care tax credit bill allows volunteers to claim the dependent care credit for volunteer-related child care expenses. Present law declares only employment-related child care expenses to be eligible for the tax credit, a law reinforcing the fallacy that volunteer work is not real work.

The volunteer tax credit grants an income tax credit to Americans who volunteer a minimum of 50 hours per year. This bill gives minimum monetary recognition to the contribution volunteers make to the national economy.

Together, these bills demonstrate a public/private partnership. The millions of Americans who volunteer are a valuable part of our society. And yet the Federal Government provides few incentives to volunteers. This package of bills takes an important step toward recognizing volunteers' priceless contributions.

I urge my colleagues to demonstrate their support for the outstanding work of volunteers in this country by supporting this package of legislation. ●

H.R. 1244 A BILL TO CREATE A CAPITAL BUDGET FOR THE UNITED STATES

HON. BOB EDGAR

OF PENNSYLVANIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, April 21, 1983

● Mr. EDGAR. Mr. Speaker, earlier this week I had the pleasure of hosting a half-day symposium on Federal capital budgeting and the United States public infrastructure. The gathering was cohosted by my colleague from Pennsylvania, Congressman CLINGER, and organized by the House Wednesday Group. An additional sponsor was the Columbia Institute for Political Research, and further assistance was provided by a number of professional organizations. The conference centered on growing concern about the deteriorating condition of our basic public facilities—roads, bridges, sewers, and buildings.

Along with Congressman CLINGER, I am the sponsor of H.R. 1244, a bill to create a capital budget for the United States. In addition to requiring the executive branch to submit a capital budget report to Congress each year, this legislation would mandate an inventory and assessment of the Nation's public facilities. Such legislation would enable Congress to set spending priorities with a clear understanding of their long-term ramifications for our infrastructure, especially the con-ting a report covering fiscal year 1982 on donations received and allocations made from the fund "14x8563 Funds Contributed for the Advancement of the Indian Race, Bureau of Indian Affairs," pursuant to the act of June 6, 1968 (82 Stat. 171, 25 U.S.C. 51); to the Committee on Interior and Indian Affairs.

979. A letter from the Director, Administrative Office of the United States Courts, transmitting his annual report for calendar year 1982 on applications for court orders made to Federal and State judges to permit the interception of wire or oral communications, pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 2519(3); to the Committee on the Judiciary.

980. A letter from the Secretary of Transportation, transmitting a draft of proposed legislation to repeal the prohibition against targeting for certain services to vessels of the United States, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries.

981. A letter from the Assistant Secretary of the Army (Civil Works), transmitting a report from the Chief of Engineers, on New Logan fishery, California, together with her pertinent reports, in response to a resolution adopted May 10, 1977, by the Committee on Public Works and Transportation of the U.S. House of Representatives; to the Committee on Public Works and Transportation.

982. A letter from the Assistant Secretary of State for Congressional Relations and the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Legislative Affairs, transmitting the fifth annual report on progress in enhancing human rights through U.S. participation in international financial institutions, pursuant to section 701(c) of Public Law 95-118; jointly, to the Committees on Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs and Foreign Affairs.

983. A letter from the Chairman, Interstate Commerce Commission, transmitting the 98th annual report of the Commission covering fiscal year 1982, pursuant to section 10311 of title 49, United States Code; jointly, to the Committees on Energy and Commerce and Public Works and Transportation.
