Getting Started

1. Register Your Nonprofit

At www.volunteermatch.org you'll find a link to "Register! Your Nonprofit." Click, and the simple online forms will prompt you for information about yourself, the organization, and the volunteer opportunity you'd like to post. To complete the registration process you'll need a tax ID number, your organization's mission statement, a description of services, and an active email address. New organizations will appear on the website within 48 hours.

2. Post Another Opportunity

The next time you visit www.volunteermatch.org the home page should greet you with your username. Head to the "Post" section you'll see your nonprofit's administrative menu. (If you don't simply enter the username and password you created during registration.) From your administrative menu click on "Add an opportunity" and fill out the online form.

3. Replying to Volunteers

Interested volunteers can use the VolunteerMatch email service to contact you. Emails will be sent to the address of your choice and will include a name, email address, phone number and selected opportunity, so that you can follow up.

THERE ARE HEROES IN YOUR MIDST.

VolunteerMatch Corporate™

"VolunteerMatch is a brilliant site that puts the full power of the web to work for those who need it."

Eric Schmidt
Novell Corporation, CEO

"Quantum's greatest asset is its employees. When our employees volunteer in the community - whether it's in the schools, on the boards of nonprofits, in hospitals, for special events, or as coaches for kids' sports teams, we're giving them the best resource they can get."

Michael Brown
Quantum, CEO

"The Internet is the cutting edge of volunteer involvement for the next 20 years, and VolunteerMatch is one of the most daring, and valuable, attempts at using it to benefit all volunteer programs. This is recruitment for the 21st Century - no muss, no fuss, and no paperwork."

Steve McCurley
VM Systems, Consultant in Volunteer Involvement

"Everybody wants to be a hero. VolunteerMatch just makes it a little easier."
